

Contents

Foreword	v
Summary	vii
Introduction	1
Chapter 1: Meeting the MDGs – Is Conservation Relevant? Dilys Roe and Joanna Elliott	7
Case Study 1: Lessons from Tanzania on Mainstreaming Environment into the New Poverty Reduction Strategy	21
Chapter 2: Beyond Wildlife – Health and Conservation Eric Chivian	25
Chapter 3: Climate Change – Biodiversity and Livelihood Impacts Hannah Reid	37

Case Study 2: Local Processes Linking Climate Change and Biodiversity	53
Chapter 4: How Can Markets for Ecosystem Services Benefit the Poor? Maryanne Grieg-Gran and Joshua Bishop	55
Chapter 5. Reconciling Global and Local Priorities for Conservation and Development Sonja Vermeulen	73
Case Study 3: Using Analysis and Advocacy to Bring About Policy Change in Indonesia	87
Chapter 6: Sustainable Landscapes – Linking Conservation and Production Jeff McNeely	89
Chapter 7: Mainstreaming Biodiversity into Big Business Annelisa Grigg	107
Case Study 4: Small-medium Forestry Enterprises for Poverty Reduction and Sustainability	127
Chapter 8: Scaling Up Community Success Stories – Experience from the Equator Prize Michael Hooper, Rubab Jafry, Matthew Marolla and Josselin Phan	129
Chapter 9: Linking Biodiversity Conservation and Poverty Reduction to Achieve the Millennium Development Goals Peter Hazlewood, Geeta Kulshrestha and Charles McNeill	143
Case Study 5: Scaling-up Success in the Baimaxuseshan Nature Reserve, China	167
Endword Camilla Toulmin, Achim Steiner, Claude Martin and Mark Rose	169