

6

Bibliographic notes

Khon Kaen University. 1988. RRA in Northeast Thailand Case Studies. KKU-Ford Rural Systems Research Project. Faculty of Agriculture, Khon Kaen 40002, Thailand

A companion volume to the earlier Proceedings of the 1985 International Conference on RRA. The case studies cover a wide range of topics.

Kumar, K. 1987. Rapid, Low-Cost Data Collection Methods for AID. USAID Program Design and Evaluation Methodology No 10

This guide focuses on various interviewing techniques, direct observation and informal surveys in general. It is directed principally at project managers.

NERAD. 1988. Preference Ranking. Agricultural Development Tool Handbook No HI NERAD Project, Tha Phra, Khon Kaen, Thailand

NERAD. 1988. Sustainability Analysis. Agricultural Development Tool Handbook No H17. NERAD Project, Tha Phra, Khon Kaen, Thailand

NERAD. 1988. Agricultural Triage. Agricultural Development Tool Handbook No HI5. NERAD Project, Tha Phra, Khon Kaen, Thailand

The three handbooks translated into English arising from the meeting reported in RRA Notes No 1.

MFVDP. 1988. Alpuri: Rapid Agroecosystem Zoning. Report of Zoning of Alpuri Sub-District, Swat, Northwest Frontier Province, Pakistan by Malakand Fruit and Vegetable

Development Project and International Institute for Environment and Development, London

A report on the Zoning of Alpuri, conducted by the Malakand Fruit and Vegetable Development Project at the beginning of the project. The zoning produced a first iteration of boundaries, together with hypotheses for development phrased on strategies or key questions.

Grandin, B. 1988. Wealth Ranking in Smaller Communities: A Field Manual. Intermediate Technology Publications, London

A method for enabling pastoralists or villagers to rank households by wealth or other criteria. Developed in East Africa. It works in segmented societies. A report in RRA Notes 4 from Ruth Grosvenor-Alsop indicates that it also works in segmented societies.

McCracken, J.A., Pretty, J.N. and Conway, G.R. 1988. An Introduction to Rapid Rural Appraisal for Agricultural Development. International Institute for Environment and Development, London

Lays out rationale and principles of RRA, together with descriptions of generic types of RRA. Includes Bibliography and Kew Workers list.

Carson, B. 1988. A Soil Conservation Manual. KEPAS, Bogor, Indonesia

A first attempt to institutionalise rapid zoning techniques into an extension service for the purpose of soil conservation.

Molnar, A. 1988. RRA and Participatory Planning Methods for Land-Based Natural Resource Management Projects. Draft. Report for FAO Forest Department and World Bank (ASTWE)

A recent balanced and well-informed review, partly based on interviews with RRA practitioners.

Ampt, P. 1988. RRA in Forbeshire, Australia. University of Sydney, New South Wales

An RRA in Australia by 10 scientists over 5 days which used techniques developed in Guatemala and Thailand which identified the diversity of farming systems and the innovativeness of farmers.

Panya, Opart et al. 1988. Charwal in Northeast Thailand. KRU - Ford Rural Systems Research Project, Khon Kaen University

A classical RRA in the Khon Kaen tradition of a multidisciplinary team, triangulation and use of several methods. 51 person days in the field over 2 months.

Scheuermeier, U. 1988. Approach Development. LBL. CH-8315 Lindau, Switzerland

An important contribution to participatory development developed by the Tinau Watershed project in Nepal. Makes very good use of diagrams and suggests a good formula for the production of working hypotheses.

McCracken, J.A. 1988. Participatory Rapid Rural Appraisal in Gujarat: A Trial Model for the Aga Khan Rural Support Programme in India. International Institute for Environment and Development, London

Report of recently conducted RRA for village level planning which has special emphasis on active involvement of villagers at all stages of the work.